Grand Jury Investigation Asked

Tape Erasure To Be Probed

... Jaworski Agrees

Washington (UPI) - U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica asked Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski Friday to conduct a grand jury investigation into the possiblity of unlawful destruction of evidence" contained in President Nixon's Watergate tapes.

72ND YEAR

Jaworski immediately agreed, and promised an "exhaustive invesigation" of the entire tapes matter in cooperation with the FBI, which already has entered

The President's lawyers promptly issued a statement stressing that Sirica's decision "is not a conviction of any individual nor is it even an indictment.

"It would be wrong to conclude on the basis of Judge Sirica's decision that any individual within the White House is guilty of impropriety or wrongdoing in the handling of the Watergate tapes," said the statement from the office of White House counsel J. Fred Buzhardt.

Hearings Suspended

Sirica thus suspended hearings that began Oct. 31 to seek an explanation of White House claims that two of the subpoenaed tapes of Nixon's Watergate conversations with aides were nonexistent and that a third contained an inexplicable 181/2-minute buzzing sound.

Technical experts told Sirica earlier this week that the 181/2minute gap was the result of repeated manual erasures that wiped out that portion of Nixon's June 20, 1972, conversation with former White House chief of staff H. R. Haldeman, three days after the Watergate

The White House statement said the public should bear in mind that the grand jury investigation will focus on "how the tape may have been erased, not what the tape contained."

Buzhardt's office said that lost in the furor over the 181/2-minute gap was the fact that Haldeman's own notes on the meeting - now in Jaworski's possession - "clearly indicate" that Nixon and Haldeman spoke only about "the negative public relations impact of the Watergate break-in on the campaign of 1972" during that 181/2minute period.

Gaps Acknowledged

A few hours before Sirica halted the hearings, a White House lawyer acknowledged there were gaps of silence on two other subpoenaed recordings, both personally dictated by Nixon as his account of two other conversations. The White House, denying that erasures were involved, agreed to refer these two tapes to investigation by technical experts.

After the hearing broke up, attorney James St. Clair, chief of Nixon's Watergate legal team, refused to say whether Nixon would appear if subpoenaed to testify before the grand jury.

Said Sirica: "It is the court's considered opinion that a distinct possibility that unlawful conduct on the part of one or more persons exists here. A grand jury should now determine whether indictments are appropriate."

Sirica stressed he was accusing no one of any specific crime. But he said Jaworski should give "serious consideration" into opening a grand jury investigation "into the possibility of unlawful destruction of evidence and any related offenses.

The technical experts' report Tuesday, without saying so directly, strongly suggested the erasures on the Nixon-Haldeman tape were deliberate rather than

No Reaons Given

Sirica said no conclusive reasons had been given for the White House failure to comply with subpoenas for three tapes, a June 20, 1972, conversation between Nixon and former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, an April 15, 1973, meeting with former White House counsel John W. Dean III, and the entire Nixon meeting with Haldeman June 20, Sirica said a grand jury was the "traditional institution" to determine whether criminal conduct had been committed.

Viet Forces Said Fighting Chinese In Paracel Islands

Saigon (AP) — Fighting broke out Saturday between South Vietnamese and Communist Chinese forces in the disputed Paracel Islands 250 miles off the South Vietnamese coast and warships exchanged fire, the Saigon command said.

Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien, chief spokesman for the South Vietnamese command, said that three South Vietnamese soldiers were killed and two were wounded as ground fighting broke out on one of the islands.

Both the Saigon government and Peking have claimed the uninhabited islands as their territory. South Vietnam charged on Wednesday that the Chinese had landed persons on the islands 175 miles southeast of the Chinese island of Hainan.

But the kids didn't seem to feel the chill as they waited their turn in the grade by grade

"I don't know where to put my hands," complained one first-grader whose mother was giving her some last minute tips on how to steer with her feet.

While some veered off course and never made it to the bottom, others found themselves deep in sush and water at the end of the run.

The past few days of sunshine had taken its toll on the usually slick course. Although snow was plentiful, the sledding was slow and most kids needed a push at the start. Mothers with wax in their pockets and extra pairs of mittens on hand, cheered the little people on.

Winners in each grade had a choice of a theater pass or a McDonald's gift certificate

The winners were: Debbie Starkweather, 1st grade: David Leker, 2nd grade; Terry Schroer, 3rd grade; Phillip Essay, 4th grade; Don DeVoy, 5th grade; Mark Starkweather, 6th grade.

Taking the prize in the plastics category was Bobby Corwin.

Kissinger Is Going To Syria

By United Press International

Israel and Egypt Friday signed an agreement to separate their forces on the Suez front over the next seven weeks. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, back in Egypt on the latest of his shuttle trips, said he would go to Syria Sunday to try to work out a similar accord on the Golan Heights

Before flying to Syria, Kissinger planned to meet Jordan's King Hussein at the Jordanian port city of Aqaba Saturday afternoon.

The suez disengagement agreement was signed at Kilometer 101 on the road from Cairo to Suez, the same desert spot on the west bank of the Suez Canal where talks between Egypt and Israel began Nov. 11. but bogged down until Kissinger started his shuttle negotiations.

Both the Egyptian and Israeli armies will be thinned out under the pact while Israeli troops will withdraw 20 miles east of the canal to a line straddling the strategic Mitla and Giddi Passes in the Sinai desert.

United Nations buffer troops will move between the new positions which replace the jagged lines left from the October war running on both east and west sides of the canal.

The pact specified it si no final agreement and that the troop withdrawals should be only "a first step toward a final, just and durable peace within the framework of the Geneva conference" attended by Israel, Egypt, Jordan, the United States and the Soviet Union. Not a single cease-fire violation was reported

Friday for the first time since the war and the signing touched off wild celebrations by frontline soldiers. An Israeli national radio reporter on the front said Egyptian troops fired their rifles into the air and sent up fireworks, flares and shouts of joy. Israeli troops, most of them mobilized reservists, said they were very happy and hoped the agreement would speed up their release from un-

About the Egyptian troops left on the canal's east bank, the agreement says only that they will be "limited in armament and forces." But Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan said in a television interview later both the Israeli and Egyptian forward zones in the Sinai will be thinned out to 7 .-000 men, 30 tanks and about the same number of Dayan said Egypt would have to move its surface-to-air (SAM) missiles 19 miles west of the

According to the text of the agreement, five consecutive days of talks will begin Sunday at Kilometer 101 to work out technical details. Actual troop withdrawals will start Jan. 28 to be completed in 40 days.

Kissinger, back in Aswan from Tel Aviv, said Egyptian President Anwar Sadat had urged him to seek accomodation with Syria, the other belligerent in the October war.

"Our view is that disengagement talks with Syria should start and the United States will work in them with the same dedication and the same goodwill as it did on disengagement between Egypt and Israel," he said, "and President Sadat has strongly urged us to make this effort.

Sadat said he contacted Syrian President Hafez Assad by telephone early Friday and indicated Syria was favorably disposed towards a disengagement agreement with Israel.

The Beirut newspaper An Nahar said Friday that Iraq, one of the most militant Arab countries, has ordered its forces to return to Syria in an apparent Board Authorizes Action Against NPPD ...

By LYNN ZERSCHLING Star Staff Writer

The longstanding dispute over wholesale power rates between the Lincoln Electric System (LES) and the Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD) finally is headed for the courts.

The LES Administrative Board Friday authorized the initiation of legal action in the matter to seek a declaratory judgement on whether NPPD has overcharged Lincoln $5 million since 1968.

NPPD contends it has not and thus does not owe any back payments. 'As Soon As Possible' The lawsuit will be filed "as soon as possible" if an immediate out of court settlement is not reached. The board also authorized the creation of a separate escrow account to hold $1.6 million LES claims is the overcharge payment for 1972-73. The account can either be set up in cooperation with NPPD or by LES

The rate hassle swung into full force two years ago when NPPD hiked its power rates.

South Sioux City then filed a lawsuit challenging that rate hike. Other NPPD customers agreed to let the South Sioux City case settle the issues.

In the interim, the NPPD board set up an escrow account into which it made monthly payments equal to the revenues collected from the disputed rate increase. If South Sioux City won the lawsuit, the escrow dollars would be refunded.

Settlement Reached But, in August, an out-of-court settlement was reached with South Sioux City that provided for a rate reduction for that northeast Nebraska community.

The escrow accounts were then rescinded by the NPPD board. No refunds were awarded.

LES Board Chairman John Haessler pointed out Friday that the original escrow account was created "sort of at our request." Termination of the account last August was done without any prior notice to Lincoln, he said.

Haessler termed any further negotiations with NPPD "fruitless" since both utilities have repeatedly tried to resolve the issues, but failed, he said.

NPPD Rates Director Henry Rice urged LES not to initiate any legal action or to set up a separate account. He said NPPD officials felt that through continuing negotiations an agreement could be reached Rice again asked LES to sign a supplemental agreement on rates, agreed to by all other NPPD customers. But LES legal counsel Norm Krivosha pointed out that if LES's position is legally correct, the rate Lincoln would pay under the existing contract would be lower than under the supplemental contract being offered by NPPD. Krivosha reported he had a good working relationship with

Board member Betty McClendon pointed out that NPPD and LES have been negotiating for two years and that a lawsuit is needed "to clear the air."

It's not every 12-year-old boy who has the chance to exhibit his artwork at the renowned Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D.C.

And if you ask Michael Fink, a sixth-grader at year was chosen as one of the Nebraska entries in the 1975 Christmas Seal Project competition, sponsored by the American Lung Association (ALA). The ALA invited each state - as well as the District of Columbia, the Virgin Islands, Puerto Rico and Guam — to submit artwork done by four elementary school students. From these 216 entries, 54 will be chosen — one from each state and territory — to be incorporated into the 1975 sheet of Christmas Seals. The youngsters whose entries are selected will see their artwork reproduced over one-hundred million times; and, as an extra bonus, all of the 216 drawings initially submitted will be placed on display at the Smithsonian.

"I was looking through some cards we had, and there was a picture I liked," Michael said in explaining the inspiration for his entry.

"It was a country church with a house next to it, and there were trees and hills in the background," he continued.

Working on the sketch at school and during his free time. "it took me about two days to completely finish it. It was sort of hard because I had to get everything just perfect.

"I had to change some of the things in the picture to keep it in my kind of drawing, because I

Sirica Urges Grand Jury Probe

Washington - Judge John J. Sirica of the Federal District Court in Washington asked the special Watergate prosecutor to give "immediate and serious consideration" to a grand jury investigation of the erasure of 18 and a half minutes of a crucial Watergate tape recording and the alleged nonexistence of two other subpoenaed tapes. Officials of the special prosecution said there was "no question" that the prosecution would follow Sirica's recommendation. (More on Page 1.)

Simon 'Hopeful' Rationing Not Needed

New York - William E. Simon, head of the Federal Energy Office, expressed optimism that gasoline rationing could be averted this year, and that world oil prices could be rolled back to more reasonable levels. His optimism in both cases was based on hopes of cooperation from the oil exporting states and a lifting of the Arab embargo against the United States.

Oil Embargo Nears Full Effect

predictions that the Arabs might relent, the Federal Energy Office (FEO) announced Friday that the Arab embargo on oil imports to the United States was nearing full effectiveness.

The White House, meanwhile, announced that President Nixon will deliver a 15-minute energy message on national radio Saturday, apparently to counter charges that the crisis was contrived by the administration and the oil industry.

Deputy press secretary Gerald L. Warren indicated that speech was not intended to disclose any new programs, such as gasoline

In its "petroleum situation report" for the first 11 days of January, the FEO indicated that the "leakage" of Arab oil into the United States from third countries has nearly dried up.

"The oil embargo is nearing full effectiveness," the report

It noted that oil imports averaged 300,000 barrels a day above government forecasts (4.9 million barrels) during the first 11 days of January, but during the last seven days of that period imports dwindled to 27,000 barrels above forecasts.

The total amount of gasoline stocks fro January compared to a year ago dropped from 215 million barrels to 205 million

In testimony prepared for the House small business subcommittee, FEO Deputy Administrator John C. Sawhill described the Arab boycott as "fully effective." But he held out hope that it would be lifted

Vice President Gerald R. Ford also predicted that the embargo would be lifted because of recent developments in the Middle

The embargo, imposed after the outbreak of the Arab-Israeli was three months ago, severely cut into the 7 million barrels of oil that previously was imported into the United States. But leakage through third countries, which Sawhill identifies as primarily Venezuela and Canada, continued to bring Arab oil into the United States during the early days of the boycott.

Sawhill said the Arab oil embargo has reduced U.S. petroleum supplies by almost 14% below expected demand. "Thus," he said, "while there has been some leakage, imports have been steadily declining."

He denied charges that the shortages have been contrived but conceded that available data on energy reserves "is not adequate and its reliability cannot be checked."

Dino Martin Accused Of Having Guns

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Dino Martin, 22-year-old son of entertainer Dean Martin, was arraigned Friday on a federal charge of illegally possessing firearms after agents confiscated seven machine guns and a cannon at his home.

An attorney for Martin, a gun fancier who has had a large collection for years, said the charge stemmed from a "technical" violation of a federal law requiring Martin to pay a transfer tax before selling the weapons.

A spokesman for the Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Bureau of the Department of the Treasury said Martin was arrested Thursday at his Beverly Hills, Calif., home, placed in custody and then released in informal custody to his attorney.

The spokesman said seven machine guns, a .20mm cannon and a supply of ammunition were confiscated. The 14-footlong cannon is ordinarily used as

In response to the use of the commissioners' hearing room, County Judge Jeffre Cheuvront pointed out that the County Court also needs another courtroom as was explained to the Building Committee sometime

He said that County Court has a unique situation in that it has one courtroom and two judges and although it might be possible to schedule six judges into five courtrooms it is difficult to schedule two into one.

The commissioners' hearing room, he said, is being used three afternoons a week now for Small Claims Court and many times it has been necessary to hold criminal arraignments in a back office of the County Court because of trials going on in the missioners' hearing room with single courtroom.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

It is a momentous agreement that has been reached in the Middle East between Israel and Egypt, but not for the obvious reason. It is not all that significant that the two nations have agreed to withdraw their armies in the Sinai and put 20 miles of desert between them.

This disengagement of troops is not so important for what it alone might contribute to peace, but rather, for the potential it offers for achieving those understandings that would be a significant contribution. In terms of a final peace, this new accord leaves far, far more to accomplish than has been done at this point.

But the stumbling block all along in the Middle East has been a combination of issues and lack of mutual trust. The issues have not been dissolved simply because neither the Arab states nor Israel could or would trust each other.

The Sinai accord is significant in that it provides a means of building that trust on which other matters might be settled in the future. If Israel could be assured that its borders would be respected, it would be far more amenable to the establishment of lines the Arab states could also live

This is true not only with Egypt, but with Jordan and Syria as well. If trust in the area could be established, the ultimate areas of difficult settlement are easily identified but are far less than the separation that now exists between the parties involved.

With mutual trust, Israel could return such large chunks of occupied Arab territory that what it felt it had to keep might be grudgingly acceptable to the Arabs. With the exception of the city of Jerusalem, all land in contention serves little more than military purposes.

If mutual respect de-emphasized the need for a favorable military position, then the land disputes that now exist would lose much of their meaning. Any such development as that would be a tremendous stimulus to settlement of the Jerusalem question and the refugee problem.

Many have hailed the refugee problem as a major obstacle and perhaps the one on which the whole peace movement might well founder in the end. We simply do not believe this.

The refugee problem is largely a human one and it would be absolutely amazing that the nations involved could settle their many other differences and then sacrifice it all to disagreement over the refugees. A large part of the refugee problem is financial, also, and the rest of the world could play a major role in this if such were the ultimate price of

In the long and tortuous history of this troubled area, it has been fear, animosity and hatred that have been the root of constant strife and turmoil.

The troop disengagement accord that has now reportedly been agreed upon has to rise or fall on something else. It will stand or fall upon the extent to which the parties involved are dedicated to it and have faith in it.

Obviously, it has the potential for disaster just as it contains the promise of peace. If it fails, it will once again enkindle the old attitudes that have so disrupted the area in the

But it is an opportunity for the cultivation of new attitudes and new approaches. Many of its characteristics give it far more promise than past accords that have had an appearance of sovereignty for all but which always contained the same old bad seeds.

U.S. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has done a remarkable job in the Middle East and continues to shine as the brightest star by far in the Nixon administration.

Greece Has Dim Memory Of Workable Democracy

WASHINGTON - The past is present in Greece today. For those familiar with the tumultuous history of modern could no longer underwrite the Greece, the latest military coup may have been dismaying, but certainly not surprising. Since the end of World War I, the country has been engaged in a fitful quest for political stability. The policies of Gen. Ioannes Metaxas, the pre-war Greek dictator, afford some insight into the authoritarian temperament that characterizes the country's present leadership. Metaxas banned Plato's Republic - not because he found its content subversive but because he objected to the title. But then the general died and Nazi troops occupied the country. Rightists and leftists united in the resistance movement. When the war ended, however, they stubbornly resisted any political compromise.

Everything seemed back on square one. The royalists were clamoring for return of the exiled monarchy. Left-center groups were insisting on some form of republican government. And the hardships that resulted from a war-ravaged economy served only to sharpen the political struggle.

公公公 As so often happens in the Balkans, civil war — not politics - decided the issue. Some 69% of the votes cast in a referendum on Sept. 1, 1945, favored the return of King George II. He arrived in Greece 26 days later anyone who opposes "order." amid leftist charges of election And "order", once considered a fraud. By the following February a civil war was fully under way. The communist insurgents, at the peak of their ef- military government pledges fort, controlled four-fifths of the elections "when the country is land area of Greece, but not the ready." If it isn't, the reason is major cities. The tide turned plain. Of democracy the Greeks only when arms and economic have only memories, not aid were received from the experience. United States.

Britain, its resources depleted by World War II, informed the United States early in 1947 that it Greek government's resistance to communist rebellion. And it was obvious to all that Greece could not carry on alone. President Truman at once consulted congressional leaders and on March 12, 1947, outlined to a joint session of Congress the principles that became known as the Truman Doctrine.

The President asked, and Congress granted, $300 million in economic and military aid to Greece and $100 million to Turkey, which was concerned about possible aggression on its border with the Soviet Union. Thus was born the long-lived American policy of containing the expansion of communism.

Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet headed a military mission to Greece which retrained and reequipped the Greek army. American military advisers prodded the Greeks into taking the offensive against guerrilla strongholds.

While the names and dates have changed, contemporary Greek politics are not so very different from those of postwar times. The civil war proved a lasting trauma for leftists, rightists, and those in between.

In today's Greece, "communist" is an epithet applied to precondition of democratic government, has increasingly become its substitute. The new

They Had A Dream

W. C. Handy brought a new kind of music to the world - the blues. The blues was unwritten folk music and had been sung for generations by Negroes in the rural South.

W. C. HANDY

Handy, a musician-composer, wrote it, scored it and sold it to the world at large. He composed some of America's most indestructible music, including such classics as "St. Louis Blues," "Beale Street Blues' and "Memphis Blues."

In each of these songs, Handy employed a distinctive 12-bar structure and plaintive lyrics which had their roots in the sorrows and suffering of the Southern black man.

Handy's genius brought him fortune and fame as the "Father of the Blues" and profoundly influenced the development of popular music in America.

Success, ironically, almost passed Handy by. He was 36 and a virtual unknown when a lucky combination of circumstances catapulted him to the top.

In 1909, he took a job leading a band in the political campaign of an unknown office seeker named Edward H. Crump.

Handy wrote a catchy song he called "Mr. Crump," and it swept Crump into office as mayor of Memphis. Later Crump became a congressman and then boss of one of the South's most powerful political machines

Handy rode the same song to success. He gave it new lyrics and a new title, "Memphis Blues," and published it. Handy was on his way.

He learned to play the cornet, and after working in the steel mills and trying his hand at teaching, he settled into a musical career.

Handy played with the Mahara's Minstrels and in bands all over the United States, Canada, Mexico and Cuba before winding up in Memphis in 1909. Though the "Memphis Blues" 1873, in Florence, Ala. Both his established Handy's reputation, Lincoln, Neb. Richard Nixon has protested, plaintively and often, that he didn't know what was going on all around him, even in those areas where it would seem to have required conscious effort to avoid seeing what was taking place.

But no matter what or who is involved, our Richard has vowed to use all the powers of the executive branch in bringing miscreants (if any) to judgment. He hopes also to initiate legislation that will cleanse our political system of any taint of skulduggery in future elections.

His disavowal and his resolve are equally fraudulent. His acquaintance with skulduggery is long and intimate, reminding one of the pervasive presence of mediocrity in the career of Roman Hruska.

Consider an incident in Nixon's campaign against Gov. Pat Brown in California in 1962. His aides then included several persons who later surrounded him in Washington, among them, H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, two of the finest public servants who ever helped a president destroy himself.

One of their projects was the "Committee for the Preservation of the Democratic Party.' This committee, posing as an organization financed by the Democratic party, sent out 500,-000 postcards to registered Democrats. Greeting a recipient as "Dear Fellow Democrat," the card asked: "Do you know what has happened to our party in the past four years?" In blaring advertisements, the committee published a poll purporting to be "the voice of the rank-and-file Democrat."

The committee was completely phony; its acts were illegal. It was illegal to solicit funds in the name of the Democratic party without party approval, illegal to distribute campaign literature without identifying the sponsor, illegal to publish a fraud such as the Nixon poll. So the Democrats thought and brought suit against the committee.

On October 30, 1964, Judge Byron Arnold of the California Superior Court signed a stipulated judgment, affirming all the charges the Democrats had made. The judgment confirmed the complete implication of Nixon and Haldeman with the design and approval of the fraud.

Poor dear Richard didn't know what was going on? He was in it up to his neck.

First, it is a law which should have been enacted long ago. No one has a moral right to pollute the air I breathe. It is not my responsibility to avoid it. Then, let's consider the waste of energy and land used in raising, processing and distributing tobacco products - if our health and the responsibility to future generations mean nothing.

How much better to use that land and energy to produce food for a hungry world. If businesses, theaters, etc. were controlling the nuisance now, Shirley Marsh's move would not

Sowing A Bad Seed

NEW YORK — After months of cautiously correct political behavior, Gerald R. Ford assumed the offensive for Richard Nixon's team the other day, and promptly found himself in the need of a helmet. There are a couple of useful lessons to be learned from his experience. Ford chose a convention of the American Farm Bureau Federation to declare that "a few extreme partisans" who were trying to drive Richard Nixon from office were really attacking Nixon's philosophy and policies, including "individual in-dependence." But Ford also chose to deliver this speech only an hour or so before the disclosure in federal court that 18 minutes of a crucial Watergate tape had been destroyed by five

It was ludicrous, moreover, for the vice president to assert that the supposed persecution of Nixon was led by "super-welfare staters" who would produce "fresh government intervention in our economy, massive new government spending, higher taxes and a more rampant inflation." Does this include Senators Sam Ervin, Herman Talmadge, Howard Baker, Daniel Inouye and Lowell the Internal Revenue Taxation Weicker? Will the real "superwelfare staters" please stand

Aside from its inherent faults, however, the Ford Thesis, when paired in the headlines with the latest tape disclosure, flopped like Operation Candor. If it was an "extreme partisan" who made five separate erasures on a tape of a Nixon-H. R. Haldeman conversation that took place three days after the Watergate break-in, it was obviously an "extreme partisan" of Richard Nixon, not of "super-welfare

Ford's speech was written by White House writers, and his experience was reminiscent of that of the Republican governors who met in Memphis last November. Nixon sped in and out of their conference, lingering just long enough to assure the governors that there were no more "bombshells" forthcoming in the Watergate matter. The governors gullibly rushed to the television cameras to pass along this information - just one day before White House lawyers acknowledged existence of the 18-minute gap in the Nixon-

The lesson to be drawn from both episodes is that no point is in sight at which the Watergate matter will be "over with" or when Nixon can "get it behind him." Indictments, pleas, trials, possible convictions, the Senate committee's actions and report, the House Judiciary Committee's impeachment inquiry, Committee's study of Nixon's income tax, the Jaworski investigation press reports, not to mention self-detonating "bombshells" like the 18-minute tape gap and the five erasures all of these are going to provide a constant boom-boom of headlines. A proposed constitutional amendment designed ultimately to expand the ways in which counties may invest their money was introduced in the Legislature Friday.

The constitutional proposal, LB978, was introduced by the Legislature's Executive Board.

Technically, it would give the Legislature the power to pass laws regulating county investments.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, chairman of the Executive Board, said, however.

the bill's prupose is to expand county investment programs which he said are currently 'auite limited.

Arnold Ruhnke of the Nebraska County Officials Association agreed with Carpenter's assessment of current investment authority saying counties "do not have broad powers of investment."

Frank Golden, Lancaster County Treasurer, said his investment program for surplus funds has so far been confined only to government securities and bank certificates of deposit.

He said although investment limits haven't been completely defined for his benefit, some banks have told him he could branch out into other areas.

But he said until there is specific authority to branch out "I'm under bond and I want to be safe."

Whether he would use expanded investment authority, Golden said he couldn't say for the time being, adding, adding he first wanted to see the kinds of laws the Legislature might adopt if the consitutional proposal is adopted by the

THE HEATER IS STUCK IN THE WARM POSITION So appreciative are we for the Lincoln Send Off, that were spending a few bucks to do something ... WE'VE NEVER DONE BEFORE! WERE HOLDING A LAWN CLINIC, one day, and one day only. THE CLINIC is primarily for APARTMENT OWNERS, Real Estate Owners, Developers, Businessmen and Executives, those who are interested in large tracts of grass and its maintenance. An Irish lad from Lincoln High met a Bohemian Girl from Wilber in the Bleachers of a big University ... and together planned a LAWN AND GARDEN DISTRIBUTION CENTER IN WEST OMAHA.

REMEMBER, the rock songs were yet to be written. Gardens and flowers and ecology weren't in the headlines and they cast their world aside... TO JOIN THE TREES, THE WIND AND GRASS! It was in the 1st suburb Omaha ever had their business began to biossom. THE AREA WAS CALLED LOVELAND! Years flew by and word traveled from New York to California... when in Omaha see the ENVIRONMENTAL FAMILY... committed to the earth!

WE INVITE YOU TO SHARE IN THE GOOD FORTUNE OF LOVELAND we invite you to have a look . . . at our new and exclusive products. Lawn toods, pre-emergence, weed controls, mulches and peats. All at early discount savings. WE HAVE THEM ALL . . WE SELL THEM ALL! No films or pretty pictures to put you asleep, our time is too valuable for that. It's a hard driving meeting . . from the merchants in grass. SEEDING, PLANTING, FERTILIZING . . we'll discuss them all. WE REPEAT this clinic is for plant managers churches and businessmen responsible for their own homes or building estates (we preter the professional lawn services and goif courses to visit our suite the nights of Jan. 23 and 24th at OUR PROFESSIONAL OPEN HOUSE 6 to 12 PM at this same hotel).

The day the Zoo Ark came It was a cold, blustery day.

The children, about 100 of them all told, sat, Indian-fashion, in a circle in one of the multiple-unit classrooms, singing one of their favorite rhythm songs.

Intermittent queries of "When are the animals gonna come in?" broke into the strains of the songs

All of a sudden, Teacher came in and said: "Boys and girls, LISTEN."

The bleating of an animal could be heard in the hallway. "It's the lamb," the five- to seven-year-olds exclaimed in unison. They were almost right.

Expectant faces watched as the representatives of the Lincoln Children's Zoo marched in carrying metal boxes with the most intriguing of sounds coming from within.

The principal was even there, carrying the noisiest of the boxes.

Soon, but not soon enough for the wideeyed youngsters, the animals, one by one, came out of their temporary quarters.

First was the "lamb," which turned out to be the six-week-old domesticated goat - that noisy critter that had caused so much commotion in the hallway.

It was an instant love affair between the baby goat and the Randolph School kindergarteners, first and second graders. He took a walk around the room, taking a sniff here and there at his excited

Then it was the gopher tortoise's turn to be the center of attention.

The children learned that he was found hiking down the highway in the desert. "Does he bite?" asked the curious

That question answered, the youngsters quickly turned their attention to the lefthanded Amazon Parrot which consumed peanuts at a rapid clip. "Does he talk?" they demanded to know

All the while, the children were not only enjoying the program but were learning, too. About the individual characteristics of the animals. About the traits of the various classes to which the animals belonged: Aves. Mammals. Rep-

And the children learned their lessons well. But then that is nothing new. For several years now, the Zoo Ark has made visits to schools, nursing homes and other places where people are. Along with the animals always go educational and conservational messages.

Sissy Haight and Ninette Haberlan were the two Junior League members telling the animals' tales that day at Randolph School.

And the show wasn't over yet. Cedrick, the baby Kinkajou, was the next animal to delight the youngsters' curiosities and imaginations.

The cuddly honey bear, a tree dwelling mammal wisely clung to his keeper.

He refused to eat his banana. But no matter. The students' attention already had been diverted to another area.

"The turtle's trying to get away!" they said, pointing to the blue bag which was spotted moving here and there. But it wasn't the turtle. Out came the Reticulated Python.

"It's a snake!" they shrieked. Finally the fear was overcome. They were entranced by the sleek, slithering

"Can you put him down," asked one of the bravest. No, he was told. But that wasn't enough. He needed an answer. "It's because he has germs," he speculated.

Soon the python was back in his bag and the Zoo Ark program was over.

The day the Zoo Ark came had ended. And the students reluctantly went back to their studies.

more in love than ever.

I would marry her tomorrow if she would came back, but I don't know where to look for her. Her family and friends insist they don't know where she is. Can you help me?

DEAR M. Since Lisa didn't leave a note to let you know where she could be contacted, it's obvious she doesn't want to see you. All you can do is wait. She knows where you are if she changes her mind. If she does, then it's up to you to convince her that you want her back - on her terms.

DEAR ABBY: I know for a fact that my father is having an affair with another woman. My brother is 21, and I am 26, so we both know what it's all about. Our problem is, should we tell our mother? When we approached Dad, he denied it as we expected he would, but we know it's a fact. If we tell Mom, we will feel responsible for her hurt. If we don't tell her, she will find out eventually, and when she does she will feel that we have betrayed her by keeping it from

I am sure Dad will get caught sooner or later, but it is so difficult to see him lying and cheating. Should we wait and let him hang himself? Or should we tell Mom what we know and pray for the best?

IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR IN: It's Dad's affair. Let him hang himself. The old saw, "The wife is always the last to know," ain't necessarily so.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a chaser. I knew it when I married him, but nobody's perfect, and besides he has a lot going for him. For instance, he's a good provider and he's not stingy with his money. And he's also a wonderful father to our seven children, he's devout in his religion, and hasn't missed mass in 13 years, no matter how hung over he was.

His last fling was with a girl who used to call here and try to disguise her voice, but I always knew it was her. She'd say it was a "business call."

Once this girl called and talked to ME. She said she was in love with my husband and he was in love with her, and she asked me why I didn't give him up. I told her I'd give him up, but she'd have to take our seven kids, their ages are 2, 3, 5, 7, 8, 10, and 12. She hung up. (I think she must have fainted.) That's the last time she called here.

Just thought this might be helpful to other wives with my kind of problem.

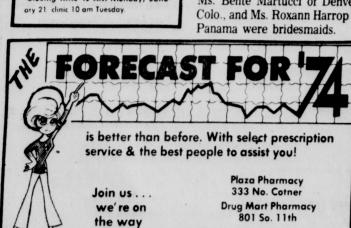

MARY SUNSHINE DEAR MARY: Thanks, but it's risky to make an offer you'd never honor.

Letter About Jan Gauger Gets Response

One state senator has replied to the Lancaster County elected officials in response to their letter notifying the state senators that Commissioner Jan Gauger was not representing their interests.

Each of the elected officials Friday received a letter for State Sen. Shirley Marsh stating: "I have never assumed that Lancaster County Commissioner Jan Gauger represented you or your office, nor has she ever intimated that she did."

The officials earlier this week sent a letter to the senators stating that they were informing the senators that Gauger, a registered lobbyist, does not represent their offices, individually or collectively at any time or in any situation.

Second Term To Be Sought By R. Colin

Lancaster County Board Chairman Robert Colin filed Friday for re-election to a second term as commissioner from the second district.

A Republican, Colin was first elected to the board in 1970. In filing, Colin said that in his opinion, government is like successful business management - it must continually improve operating procedures and strive to find new methods of providing better services for its

In enumerating some of the accomplishments of the board since he became a member. Colin said that one was the cancellation of "the appalling and unbelieveable Lancaster Manor 20-year contract that was saddled to the backs of Lancaster County taxpayers by the previous board.'

He also cited areas in which the County Board has striven to serve the rural residents, including the adoption of a standard building, electrical plumbing and heating code, and contracting with the city for inspection of all septic tank sewage

More recently, he said, the County Board has set up a solid

Brokers said that investors were recovering from their emotional euphoria after the Mideast agreement and were beginning to realize that it did not necessarily bring any concrete economic benefits.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials fell 16.69 to 855.47, erasing all of Thursday's more than 16-point jump which brokers attributed to the troop pullback agreement between Egypt and Israel.

'Investors were disappointed that some relaxation of the oil embargo didn't come with the Mideast settlement announced Thursday," said Newton Zinder, analyst with E. F. Hutton & Co.

For the previous three sessions, the Dow had been rising in anticipation of some Mideast settlement, gaining around 32 points.

Adding to investor concern, brokers said, was Thursday's report from Washington that economic growth had slowed in the fourth quarter while inflation accelerated.

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange totalled 16.47 million shares. Of the 1,785 NYSE issues traded, 475 advanced, and 978 declined. The NYSE composite index fell .87 to 51.16, while the American Stock Exchange market value index dropped .66 to 95.56.
In over-the-counter trading, the NASDAQ composite index fell .63 to 95.32. Oil stocks were particularly weak, in what analysts said was a response to congressional criticism of their possible role in the oil shortage. Phillips Petroleum fell 3/2 to 55 and Occidental Petroleum fell 3/8 to 113/8.

to 11%. Evans Products was NYSE volume leader, down ½ to 9½ after a 438,700-share block traded 9¼, down ¾. Mountain Fyel Supply did not trade during the session. The Big Board said the issue would not trade pending receipt by shareholders of a latter concerning problems related to a rate increase award in Utah.

Chicago (AP) - Old crop wheat futures came under strong liquidation in the closing minutes and fell just short of the 20 cents a bushel limit on the Chicago Board of Trade Friday.

The selling in wheat was accompanied by liquidation in the other pits. Corn was down about 21/2 cents and oats nearly 1 cent. Soybeans, except for the expiring January, lost 5 cents. Soybean oil prices were up as much as 70 points, but meal lost $3 a ton. Iced broilers were irregular after a very lightly traded session.

Cattle On Feed Decrease 6%

Washington (UPI) - Confirming earlier predictions that beef supplies will be down in early 1974, the Agriculture Department Friday released a report showing the number of cattle on feed for slaughter Jan. 1 was 6% below a year earlier. The report increased prospects that consumers will be facing higher retail prices in supermarkets. The report estimated the number of cattle and calves in feedlots Jan. 1 at 13,637,000 head in all 50 states including 13,062,-000 head in the 23 major feeding states. Both figures were 6% below the corresponding figures on Jan. 1, 1973. The report also said the number of cattle sent to slaughter plants during the last quarter of 1973 was 4% below a year earlier. Another report estimated beef production this week was 2.5% below a year earlier and production on all meats was 1% below a year ago. expires July 18.

Re-Elects Nebraskan

Omaha (UPI) - Ray Davis, Potter, Neb., was re-elected president of the National Wheat Growers Association as the association wound up a four-day annual convention here.

Davis, 51, had no opposition in his bid for a second one-year

Don Woodward, Pendleton, Ore.. was re-elected vice president and Don Crane of Wright Kan., was elected secretarytreasurer.

The association adopted resolutions calling for assurances that the wheat producer will continue to have an equitable income.

The association also recommended a target price update on wheat and the implementation of the escalator clause for the 1975 crop.

The target price, the resolution said, should be tied to the cost of production plus a reasonable profit in relation to the rest of the economy. The resolution did not offer a specific figure on how much it should be increased from the present $2.05 per bushel.

Cattle Total In Feedlots Goes Down

Nebraska feedlots on Jan. 1 held 1,525,000 cattle, 4% less than a year before and 7% less than last month, according to the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics.

There were 623,000 cattle weighing 900 pounds or more, an increase of 4% from last January while the 700-899 pound group totaled 601,000 head, up slightly from a year earlier. Nebraska reeders have indicated plans to market 1,020,000 cattle during the January-March quarter, up 3% from those months in 1973. In the October-December quarter just ended. feeders sent 950,000 fed cattle to market, 10% fewer than in that period last year.

The 1,037,000 cattle placed on feed during October-December amounted to a 16% decline from those same months last year.

There were 3,617,000 cattle marketed from Nebraska feedlots during 1973, a decline of 9% from the 3,990,000 marketed during 1972.

Gold Bullion Prices Soar To A Record

LONDON (AP) - Gold bullion prives soared on West European markets Friday to a record high.

The metal made its most spectacular advance in Paris where it reached $130.83 an ounce. Its previous high in the French capital was $127.85 on Thursday. Its previous high anywhere was $130.50 in London last week. In London and Zurich, where gold lost ground at the morning fixings, there was a sudden reversal during the day. The sudden surge in the gold price followed deadlock on questions of monetary reform at the meeting of 20 finance ministers in Rome according to South African Finance Minister Nicholaas Diedrichs. He told newsmen that the free price of gold will reach $150 an ounce "in the course of this year."

South Africa mines 90 per cent of the gold produced by non-Communist nations. Indications that the price of gold might rise came earlier this week in a statement by Rene Larre, French general manager of the Bank of International Settlements. Larre said he saw a time when the West European central banks will trade gold among themselves at the free market price. At present they trade it among themselves at the fixed monetary rate of $42.22 an ounce.

Larre said that by exchanging their gold at the free market price, the central banks will be able to revalue their reserves. This in turn will provide the money for their countries to pay increased oil prices.

Suggesting that he is "the real Democrat" in the race, State Sen. Frank Lewis of Bellevue Friday formally filed as a candidate for lieutenant governor.

"I think when you look at the party's platform and its historical ties and then view my record, you will find that philosophically I am the real Democrat in the contest," Lewis said in a Statehouse interview.

Whelan, State Sen. Jules Bur-Leahy May Try For Lt. Governor

Leahy Friday acknowledged that he may yet enter the politically intriguing Democratic primary contest for lieutenant governor.

"I have not completely discounted it," Leahy said in a telephone interview. "I have not slammed the door on that one."

Leahy said "a lot depends on how things move in the next 30 to 60 days. A lot would depend on public opinion."

The Democratic scrap for lieutenant governor is already the showcase contest of the 1974 primaries, one in which Goy. J. James Exon has committed his influence and prestige.

Leahy's entry would substantially heighten the drama.

The popular former (1969-73) mayor is now president of the Riverfront Communities Development Foundation in Omaha.

Whelan Resigns

Whelan resigned as a member of the State Board of Education earlier in the day to clear the way for active campaigning.

Exon's endorsement of Whelan dramatizes the contest since it places the governor's influence among Democratic voters squarely on the line.

The addition of Leahy into a race, which already boasts three strong candidates, could turn the struggle into a free-for-all.

Beyond the prize of the lieutenant governor's office itself, is the prospect of emerging as a possible successor to Exon if he gains re-election this year.

That succession could come as early as 1976, if Exon sought and won a Senate seat. If the governor completes his term, his lieutenant governor should be already counts Hastings attorney first in line for the 1978 Democratic gubernatorial organizations that make up the council make an effort to educate their members about the value of land use planning and zoning.

"Most people feel that zoning is a bad deal. They think that it restricts them from doing what they want . They fail to see that it can protect them from unwanted developments as well,"

Nelson warned that passing a zoning law was not enough to prevent unwanted industries and developments from invading agricultural areas.

"You have to monitor the program constantly. There are tremendous economic pressures on all governments to increase the tax base in their areas. This leads to changes in zoning by officials," he said.

Nelson said that a no growth policy was doomed to failure. "It is a lot better to have a planned growth policy because the growth is going to come anyway. This way you can control it to some extent," he said.

Nelson predicted that some day states may have to condeman land and buy it for developments, such as an oil refinery, if the establishment of Nelson told the council such an industry was deemed necessary for the welfare of the general public.

> 'They would probably have to buy up a lot of land around it as well as the land needed for the site," he added.

N-Plant Is Given 40-Year License

Saturday, January 19, 1974 The Lincoln Star 9

COLUMBUS, Neb. (AP) - A full-term 40-year license to operate the Cooper nuclear station near Brownsville was issued Friday to the Nebraska Public Power District, officials said.

The license was issued by the Directorate of Licensing of the Atomic Energy Commission.

While the license is for full power, an NPPD spokesman said only fuel loading and lowpower physics testing would take place initially.

The term of the license is 40 years from June 4, 1968, the day the AEC construction permit was issued.

The station uses a boiling water reactor and will have a net electrical output of about 800,-000 kilowatts. At present, it is the largest nuclear generating plant between the Mississippi River and the West Coast, NPPD said.

Officials said it would take approximately 10 days to load 548 fuel bundles consisting of 26,852 individual fuel rods, into the

Fuel Oil Conservation Results Told By NPPD

COLUMBUS, Neb. (AP) -The Nebraska Public Power District (NPPD) says it saved about 4.5 million gallons of fuel oil in December through an oil conservation program initiated in July, 1973, by a number of midwest regional utilities.

James Eckblade, NPPD power system manager, said the district purchased about 48 million kilowatt hours of electric energy from 10 regional utilities "which would have required 4.5 million gallons of fuel oil to generate."

Tipoff: 7:35 p.m. NU Coliseum

By MARK GORDON Star Sports Writer

Like everything else, earning a starting or a major reserve role on a baskatball team is a matter of paying the price.

Bob Siegel, last year's Mr. Everything at Fairbury High School is slowly learning that perseverance and dedication are two ingredients for success as a Cornhusker.

"I'm down to 204 pounds (from starting fall camp at 230)," said the Husker freshman. "It takes a while to learn the system and I know now what it takes down here.'

The 6-7 forward is expected to see considerable action as Nebraska opens its home Big Eight campaign with a 7:35 p.m. Saturday tilt against streaking Oklahoma at the NU Coliseum.

The Sooners, after losing their first two games en route to a seventh-place finish at the Big Eight Tournament in late December, have won six straight games. Coach Joe Ramsey's Sooners have won their only two conference games and are tied for the Big Eight lead after one week of play with a 2-0 mark.

After Nebraska dropped its league opener at Kansas Last Saturday, 79-64, Siegel knows a victory would be a definite boost

'A win would really help our program. If we have trouble here at the start at home, then it'll be hard for us," he said. "Our young kids have to get a taste of winning. I'm just not used

The Huskers, who are undefeated in five NU Coliseum contests this season, find themselves with a 7-6 record while OU is Sophomore 6-9 center Alvan Adams, last year's Associated Press' Big Eight player-of-the-year as a freshman, is second in league scoring (19.8) and second in rebounding (13.2).

A year ago, Nebraska tripped OU, 74-67, in Lincoln despite a 23-point effort from Adams and an early 10-0 OU lead. Adams saw no action in the second meeting between the two clubs at Norman as he sustained a broken wrist at Missouri.

For Nebraska, the game marks the first Lincoln appearance since beating Northern Iowa on Dec. 20. The contest is Oklahoma's first league road test.

And road games were OU's downfall last season as the Sooners dropped six of seven after sweeping past the seven league foes at the OU Fieldhouse. While Siegel is not expected to start, just achieving a primary reserve role has been quite an accomplishment for the former all-stater.

"It's different down here and I like the difference." he said. "Having to do it like they want makes you understand the game. It's a much bigger challenge and now that I'm doing better, I'm looking forward to the practices."

BIG EIGHT NOTES - Although OU leads 61-53 in the series, Nebraska has won 17 of 25 under coach Joe Cipriano. The Huskers hold a 25-22 advantage in Lincoln . . . NWU-Hastings Tilt Highlights NIAC Card

In their first meeting Hastings prevailed, 96-76, in the NIAC's pre-season tournament at Seward. However Dr. Lynn Farrell believes his Broncos may have a tougher time this game.

For one thing, NWU's John Strain is expected to be healthy. He suffered a severely sprained ankle in the first two minutes in the first meeting with Hastings.

Strain is the Capital City club's second leading scorer and rebounder, plus being looked upon as a leader by his team-

Superb Cast In 'Joe Egg' Creates Rich Experience

By MILAN WALL Star Staff Writer

A really superb cast, with performances finely tuned, made the Lincoln Community Playhouse production of "Joe Egg" a rich experience for theater-goers at Friday night's

The Peter Nichols play, about an English couple coping with their spastic daughter (and themselves), is not the sort of theater you think could be enjoyed.

It does, of course, leave one thinking. But Friday's audience also left praising it. And rightly Janet Lynn Wilson, at age 7, brought more discipline to the role of Joe, the spastic daughter, than seemed possible from one so young.

As her father, Bri, Janet's offstage dad was perfect. John R. Wilson, who's been directing the playhouse's efforts since 1968. switched back to acting this time. It was a well-timed and beautifully executed change. Similar adjectives would describe the performances of Linda Goldberg as Bri's wife, Sheila; Andrea Visuthipol and and Freddie, and Beryl Crown as Grace, Bri's mother. The cast was well-balanced

By Mrs. Creigh

Mrs. Creigh, wife of Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Co. president Thomas Creigh Jr., has taught at Central City High School and Hastings College.

The mother of four, she has written several books, including a two-volume "Centennial History of Adams County' which was given an award by the American Association for State and Local History.

She is a member ot the Nebraska Arts Council.

Mrs. Creigh received a bachelor's degree from Hastings College and a master's degree in journalism from Columbia University. Her term will expire in 1975. Her age was not given at her request, the governor's office reported.

Whelan, who is also from Hastings, said Friday his resignation from the nonpartisan vice president.

Ed Board, Stanley Resolve Differences

An expected showdown Jan. 31, after Hawley turned between Education Commissioner Cecil Stanley and the State Board of Education over forced retirement of 20 "key" department personnel never materialized Friday.

All was harmonious, at least on the surface, as the board averted a public dispute on the matter and extended Stanley's tenure as commissioner past his 65th birthday until Dec. 31, 1974.

However, it appeared unlikely that Stanley will stay past then, since the board said it will name a search committee next month to find a new commissioner.

Afterwards, Stanley, who has indicated he would fight any attempt to retire him before he reached 68, said he was "satisfied" with the compromise. He said he "got wind" in advance that an agreement might be worked out.

In fact, the board assented to nearly all recommendations made by Stanely that certain employes who have reached 65, or soon will, be retained for periods varying from a few months to almost a year.

voiced by board President missioner. Gerald Whelan and R. Jerry Hargitt of Omaha.

State law requires retirement at age 65 with provisions for oneyear extensions provided no extra retirement benefits are allowed. Stanley will be 65 Feb. 12, and Deputy Commissioner Stanley Hawley would be forced to retire April 2.

Retirement Policy The board adopted a retirement policy Friday which states employes may be extended beyond the mandatory retirement age of 65 when there is a "clear and present need" for continued employment as measured by the employ's "indispensibility" to the solution "of key educational problems."

The board also accepted 1974, as administrator of trade Hawley's retirement, effective and industrial education. White Still Likely Choice

Assistant State Chairman Dick White of Lincoln remained the likely choice Friday night as Nebraska Democrats prepared to name a successor to State

ning to a prior system of electing

If it chooses to return to the old system, State Sen. Richard Fellman of Omaha may become a candidate for the chairmanship.

In addition to White, Mrs. Pauline Anderson of Lincoln and Allen O'Donnell of Wayne have announced their candidacy for the chairmanship.

Former State Highway Commissioner J. R. McBride of Minden has also been mentioned as a possible prospect down an offer by the board to stay through the balance of the year.

Hawley, who will be joining a real estate venture, told the board, "My plans are irrevocable . . . my status looked pre-determined during the board's last discussion of retirement.

Both Stanley and board member Frank Landis of Lincoln expressed concern at Hawley's insistence on retiring at the end of this month.

"I don't see how with anyone else we could continue to give the expert legal advice on education laws to school districts,' Stanley said.

Decorative Plates Supported

Star Staff Writer

The Nebraska American Revolution Bicentennial Commission (ARBC) Friday voted unanimously to go on record favoring the passage of two bills before the Legislature requiring only one official license plate on the rear of motor vehicles and allowing decorative plates on the

The resolution stated that commissioners show strong interest in offering a commemorative bicentennial license plate to fill vehicles' front license holders.

The action came after Secretary of State Allen Beermann proposed the commission consider selling an armetale plate made in Pennsylvania, for which ARBC can collect royalty

Armetale is a metal alloy of substances which are not in short supply," Beermann said. pointing out that the State Department of Motor Vehicles (DMV) "appears it's going to have a shortage of steel" for new license plates. Armetale is "indestructable."

he said. "It can't be bent or broken." The plate - if LB797 and LB793 pass — could be used during 1975 and 1976, he said, after which it could be mounted as a wall plaque, serving as an heirloom. Beermann said Pennsylvania, one of 11 states now using commemorative plates, sold 43,000 commemorative plates from January through September last year at $5.95 each, bringing that state's bicentennial commission $45,000 in royalties.

Should the two bills sponsored by Sen. Blair K. Richendifer of Walthill pass, Beermann suggested that ARBC earmark incoming royalties for a specific project, such as the Interstate 80 Sculpture Garden, leaving a legacy of the state's bicenten-

Mrs. Eleanor Crosier, ARBC assistant director, pointed out that the national American Revolution Bicentennial Administration (ARBA) considers the sculpture garden "one of the top four projects introduced nationally.

The Legislature's Public Works Committee will hold a public hearing on LB797 and LB763 on Jan. 30 at 2 p.m. Beermann urged the commissioners to write committee members and chairman Maurice A. Kremer of Aurora, indicating they favor passage.

"If these bills do not pass," are available." For example, he said DMV could manufacture a special bicentennial plate of reflective material, also displaying the license number.

Friday called for establishment of an international clearinghouse to distribute information about nontraditional approaches to U.S. and aborad. The post-secondary study. During the final day of the three-day gathering at the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education, the conference also got a summary look at the State University of Nebraska (SUN) project and heard about a similar open learning program now under way in Israel under the sponsorship of the Rothschild Foundation.

It was SUN, Nebraska's own nontraditional approach to college courses, and the Lincolnheadquartered Great Plains National Instructional Television Library that sponsored the conference, which drew some 400 people from 42 states and four foreign countries.

Education Info Clearinghouse Urged For three days, the participants heard addresses by Participants in the first some of the nation's and the world's leaders in ideas about Learning in Higher Education study outside traditional classroom walls and shared notes on a variety of open learning projects being tested in the > international clearinghouse idea emerged from a session designed to give the participants the opportunity to take concerted action on matters of importance to the open learning movement.

Sharing Data Agreed

In consensus fashion, the conferees agreed that some means are needed to share widely data on which open learning projects have been planned and information on course materials already

Several said they were particularly interested in the SUN market surveys of the potential audience for nontraditional study in the Midwest and in selected states and urban areas around the nation.

about two per cent of the adult population is interested in enrolling and paying fees to take one or more courses in a format that permits them to study either in their home or close to their work.

SUN is studying use of television, radio, cassettes, newspapers, textbooks and other types of media to mount its courses, which it now hopes to begin as early as October and no later than next January.

SUN is expecting within a few days announcement that it has received another $930,000 from the federal government to begin course development.

2 Speakers Appear

Two speakers who appeared Friday, while applauding SUN and similar programs, also pinpointed problem areas in nontraditional study.

One was Max Rowe, of Geneva, Switzerland, who is secretary-general of the Rothschild Foundation. And the
